CAMPAIGNS & GOALS

SPRING ~~BREAK~~ BUILD

Spring breakers hit the road in March and April. Let'sget them to stop by for fun promotions, events, and activities. When you've got a break, it's a great time to build.

TARGET AUDIENCE

Primary audience: mothers ages 35–44
We're looking for parents to bring their kids for an hour or more of fun during spring break. Get the kids out of the house, away from the screens, and in front of some LEGO® bricks. If mom or dad is a LEGO fan, they might also pick up something for themselves.

Secondary audience: kids ages 5–11
Elementary school students are going to be the main reason for parents to come to the store. They're looking for something fun for their kids to do. If the kids see an event promotion, then they may ask to come. If the kids have a great experience, then they'll ask to come back.

CORE MESSAGE & BENEFITS

Turn their break time into build time

- Make fun family memories during spring break.
- Give your kids something creative and screen-free to do while school's out.
- Pick out something for yourself because you've earned a break too.

This playbook has a sibling and the two of them get along really well. Anytime we suggest an in-store event, there is a detailed guide on how you might market and host that event. The Event Playbook has social media templates, email templates, make & take instructions, activity ideas, and more. Find Q2 event ideas on pages 15–22 of the Event Playbook.

WE WANT TO KNOW HOW IT GOES

As this is one of the first Bricks & Minifigs® marketing playbooks, we definitely want your feedback. This will be an iterative process, but our aim is that each playbook is better than the last one. Reach out directly to the marketing staff as needed and fill out the feedback form as well. The form is designed to take about two minutes to complete. Thank you and we hope you have an amazing Q2 2026.
